Olympic Valley & Alpine Meadows

We don't know this for sure, but we'd like to think that when Kurt Vonnegut came up with the phrase "Breakfast of Champions", he was imagining a place like Tahoe. Whether or not that's true, the fact is that when you dine in Squaw Valley and the nearby Alpine Meadows, you'll be in the company of incredible history. Here's where the 1960 Olympic games took place—and where you can dine before views of iconic trams, peaks and valleys.

10 Spots for Delicious Al Fresco Dining

Now that you know where to find Tahoe's best bites, you're going to want to figure out where to enjoy them. Fortunately, there's plenty of outdoor ambiance to be found in the region. Read our guide to protecting and exploring the region as you dine on-the-go below.

Remember: Keep Tahoe Beautiful, Leave No Trace

North Lake Tahoe's beauty has been preserved over the years thanks to people just like you. As you explore Tahoe's dining options, we encourage you to dispose of all waste and recyclable materials mindfully. Here are some tips to get it right

Use the Right Receptacles

Throughout Tahoe, you'll find animal-proof trash and recycling bins. These bins demarcate a place for trash and a place for recycling. Take the time to distribute your waste and recycling materials properly. As a general rule, food waste and non-rigid plastic (like single-use plastic bags) go in the trash. Rigid plastics, cardboard, and glass go in recycling. Observing these waste management practices helps keep Tahoe clean, and minimizes landfill usage.

No Receptacles Nearby? No Problem.

The areas of North Lake Tahoe are vast and ready for adventure, but occasionally, as you explore the great outdoors, you'll find yourself without a much needed trash receptacle nearby. Don't let this sticky situation tempt you to litter. Instead, carry a reusable bag so you can store waste materials during your explorations. That way, you can dispose of your garbage properly at your hotel, rental unit or whatever you call your home away from home.

Be Safe and Mindful About Food Storage

We love the curious critters that share Tahoe's breathtaking beauty with us. That said, some of the food items people enjoy can be very bad for them—and encounters between man and wild aren't always friendly. With that in mind, we encourage you to consider your safety and that of our animal friends when storing food. As a best practice, refrain from storing food in your car as you venture outdoors... and if you must keep it there, keep it in a tightly sealed storage container that keeps the smell out of our furry friends' noses and the taste out of their mouths. If you're in a vacation rental and a bear box is provided, use it (and lock it!). If one is not provided, only put your garbage out on the morning of pick up.

10 Spots for Delicious Al Fresco Dining

Lakeside Docks & Decks

North Lake Tahoe is home to plenty of docks and outdoor dining decks available for public use. Take advantage of these to dine seated al fresco, with a grand view of the lake and surrounding panorama of the mountains.

Eagle Rock Hiking Trail

Conveniently located next to popular West Shore dining staples, this classic Tahoe hike rewards you with 360 views at the top after a quick scramble up. It's the perfect spot to catch the alpenglow with an early dinner, just make sure to get down before it's dark!

Monkey Rock

This beloved spot in North Lake Tahoe is a must-see—not only for the privilege of catching a gander at the famed Monkey Rock (it looks just like it, we swear), but also because the view of the surrounding Incline Village area is remarkable.

Sugar Pine State Park and the Hellman-Ehrman Mansion

Dine among Tahoe history at the Hellman-Ehrman mansion in Sugar Pine State Park. The Mansion built in 1903 is a long-standing example of opulent Tahoe summer homes of the past. The park's day use area includes nearly 2 miles of shoreline access and some of the tallest pine trees in the world. The perfect location for a historic lakeside meal.

Heritage Plaza

In the heart of Tahoe City is a quaint square with tables and seating where you can dine with views of the lake and a 12-foot tall mother grizzly bear and her two cubs. Ursa Mater, or Penny Bear as we like to call her, is a sculpture covered in 200,000 pennies placed to look like fur. The perfect company for a perfect meal.

Shirley Creek Trail

Throughout the year but particularly in the spring, the meadows that surround the Shirley Creek Trail are lush—and an ideal spot to plan a picnic.

64 Acres Beach and Park

Just footsteps away from downtown Tahoe City (a great place to grab bites and sips on the go), the 64 Acres Beach and Park offers visitors a paved walkway along the Truckee River's edge, as well as a plethora of benches, picnic tables and barbecue grills to make al fresco dining easy.

Patton Landing

Patton Landing is a 3-acre pebbly beach right next on the shores of Lake Tahoe in Carnelian Bay. And what's great about this spot is that it's dog-friendly. So if your pooch is one of your dining companions, look no further. This spot is directly next to Waterman's Landing coffeeshop and is just a hop and skip from the iconic Gar Woods Grill & Pier or north shore classic Old Post Office Cafe.

Kings Beach State Recreation Area

The Kings Beach State Recreation Area is a sprawling park with relaxing, sandy beaches and a shady picnic grove with plenty of tables to bring your Tahoe take out. Whether you're rewarding yourself after an exhilarating day of SUP and kayaking, or simply looking for a moment to enjoy a beautiful picnic spread outdoors, KBSRA makes for the perfect retreat.

Comfort of Your Home

Whether you've lived in Tahoe your whole life or it's your first time visiting, you've established a home base in the area. And during crazy times like these, it's nice for someone else to do the cooking. So figure out what you're craving (that might be the hardest part), follow the guide for the best way to order it up, and set up al fresco from the comfort of your home. Sweatpants aren't necessary, but they're certainly encouraged!
